

CONEWAGO JT. BOARD ASKING CONTINUATION OF "STATUS QUO"

Directors of the Conewago Joint School system are asking the county board of school directors to revise the "county plan for school development" in order to permit the Conewago system to continue functioning as it is.

Seven members of the joint board, in a 3 1/2-hour session at the court house, which began at 9 o'clock Friday night, said the directors of the Conewago jointure, after a period of several years in which various districts of the jointure appeared to be headed different ways, have decided that the best thing for all concerned is continuation of the present jointure.

The county plan now calls for the reorganization of the Lower Adams, North Adams and Conewago Joint School systems into two jointures which, in effect, would put part of Conewago into the Lower Adams system and part in a jointure with the present North Adams system.

County Board Puzzled
That plan was submitted by the county board and approved by the state Council of Education after the council had rejected a prior plan calling for the three joint systems to continue as they actually are operating today.

The present county plan also calls for Paradise Twp. in York County, now a member of the Conewago Jointure, to join the Lower Adams joint school system if it desires to remain affiliated with the Adams County system.

Members of the county board told the representatives of Conewago Jointure that they were somewhat puzzled by the turn of events. A vote of the districts involved when the state council turned down continuation of the present jointures showed all but two of the districts in the three jointures favored making two jointures out of the three. The other two districts favored making one large jointure from the three.

Has Been "Great Change"
More recently Paradise has asked permission to join the Lower Adams (New Oxford) system, Reading Twp. also a member of the Conewago jointure, has entered into a new jointure system, known as Bermudian Springs, with the North Adams system, and within the last few months East Berlin directors appeared before the county board to ask if directors from other districts could be forced to appear for meetings of the Conewago Joint system so the joint board could take action on various matters.

Old "General Meade" Engine 70 Years Old

Gettysburg's first mechanical fire engine, the old Silsby steam pump, known as "Gen. George G. Meade," will be seventy years old Thursday.

Although the horse-drawn machine has been shunted aside for more modern motor driven equipment of the Gettysburg fire department for 40 years, the old Silsby is still serviceable to some extent. The machine, which resembles an enlarged thermos bottle on wheels, hasn't been used at a fire since about 1916, but it still can get up sufficient head of steam to at least make a showing.

In its heyday, the old Silsby was "the last word" in the line of fire engines. Purchased along with two hand reels of hose for $3,450, the machine saw active service for about 30 years.

Now In Museum
Now, on loan from the fire department, it stands in shining glory at the Horse 'N' Buggy Museum here, but it is available for parades at any time, and thousands of visitors admire its ancient grace and impression of power.

A fire in the fall of 1884, which reached conflagration proportions, kindled the spark of public opinion here for a mechanical fire apparatus.

In the fall of 1884 a fire razed the original home of James Gettys, founder of Gettysburg, which stood along Race Horse alley, behind what is now the Sherman apartment building, York St. The blaze, which followed a celebration of the election of President Cleveland, also destroyed the stables of the old Globe hotel on York street and a number of other buildings east.

General Pickett, Defeated In Third Day's Battle Of Gettysburg, Has Two Shrines To His Memory In West

General George E. Pickett, whose name will always be indelibly linked with the Gettysburg Battlefield and the courage and gallantry with which troops under his command moved across open ground in a vain and bloody attempt to smash the Union center, has two shrines to his memory in far-off Bellingham, Washington, where he served as a captain in the Indian fighting between 1856-1861.

Miss Margaret Gray, granddaughter of the late James Kurtz, of Gettysburg, visited in Gettysburg last summer and was so impressed with the town, its inhabitants, and its monuments that when she returned to her home in Bellingham, she sent to The Gettysburg Times two photographs of the Pickett memorials in her home city. She sent also to the Adams County Free Library a copy of "The Fourth Corner" by Lelah Jackson Edson, of Bellingham. The book contains two interesting chapters on Pickett's activities in the West.

Built Home In 1856
"The Pickett House" pictured in one photograph was built by the Confederate hero in 1856 and is the oldest building in Bellingham. In 1936 the property was deeded to the Washington State Historical Society. The second photograph is of a bridge built on the Military Road around Bellingham Bay in 1858 by Pickett's soldiers.

This Pickett House in Bellingham, Wash., was built by Captain George E. Pickett in 1856 and stands today, the oldest building in that city. The froth of white to the left rear of the house is the oldest pear tree in the section and probably in the state in blossom. It was planted by General Pickett and is known as the "Pickett Pear Tree." This picture was taken in 1936 at the ceremony transferring the deed of the property to the Washington State Historical Society.

JULY 1-7 TO BE ANNIVERSARY DATES IN '56

Observance of the 93rd anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg will be held July 1 through 7, the general committee for the Gettysburg Fire Department sponsored program decided Friday evening at a meeting in the engine house.

The annual Sunday evening memorial service, a feature of the anniversary program, will open the week of celebration this year, with the event to be held Sunday, July 1. The carnival at the Recreation Field will begin July 2 and continue through July 7.

Fireworks will be a nightly carnival feature, but the firemen's committee voted that this year's fireworks, as far as possible, will be silent ones. Discussion of the fireworks program led to a decision to do away, if it is possible to buy fireworks in such fashion, with the "salutes" — the rockets that spear high in the sky and then dissolve into a shower of stars followed by an earth shaking explosion. If possible the aerial salutes will be replaced by similar rockets that burst into showers of colored lights — but don't go "bang."

Parade On July 4
A contract was signed with the Inners Amusement Co. to provide a large and a small ferris wheel, chair plane, boat ride, and "little whip" plus candy apples, popcorn, cotton candy and "snowballs" concessions at the carnival.

July 4 at 6 p.m. was set as the time for the annual parade in connection with the battle anniversary observance.

Prizes totalling $1,000 will be presented for the parade, with the parade committee headed by Donald W. McSherry authorized to divide the amount as it sees fit among the various prizes to be offered in the parade. One thousand dollars in U.S. Savings bonds will also be awarded during the carnival period.

Chairman Glenn F. Weishaar presided at the meeting held in the council chambers.

The evening service will be at 7:30 o'clock with Dr. George Detweiler of Waynesboro as the guest minister. Dr. Detweiler has served as moderator of the local congregation during the entire planning and building work of the congregation and is their present moderator. The Senior Choir will render two anthems entitled: "The Church's One Foundation" and "Seek Ye the Lord."

RED CROSS ASKS CLOTHING FOR FAMILY OF SIX

A mother of four small children who lost much of their furniture and most of their clothing in a recent fire has appealed to the Adams County Chapter of the Red Cross for gifts of clothing for her family—and in return offers to do sewing for the Red Cross.

"I can sew very well and would like to offer my services," she concluded a written plea to the Red Cross to "try to help us especially for the children's sake." The family lives in Adams County.

"We aren't asking for new things, just what people can donate, and they don't have to be exact sizes as I am good at making things over," she explained that her husband is working but when "must" bills are paid out of his weekly check there is nothing left for new clothes for the kiddies and the father and mother.

Mrs. Peggy P. Hill, executive secretary of the Red Cross, who made public the appeal, did not reveal the woman's name. Mrs. Hill said the Red Cross will be glad to receive new or used clothing for the family and asked that the clothing be clean and usable.

The baby girl is three months old and wears infants' size clothing. The other girl is 5 years old and wears size 6 clothing, size 7 socks and size 11 shoes. The youngest boy is 2 years old and wears size 3 clothing, size 6 socks and size 7 shoes. The other boy is four. His clothes should be size 6, socks 7 and 8, shoes 7 1/2 or 8, socks 10 1/2. The mother wears size 40 slip, size 40 coat, shoes 7 1/2 or 8, socks 10 1/2. The mother wears size 40 slip, size 40 coat, shoes 7 1/2 or 8, socks 10 1/2. Ike Promises To Aid GOP Cause As Candidate Or Worker In Ranks

By JACK BELL.
WASHINGTON (AP)—Either as a candidate or as a "worker in the ranks," President Eisenhower has promised to battle "with all my strength" for the policies of his administration.

Despite the uncertainty with which he viewed his role, Eisenhower's promise of support last night cheered more than 60,000 Republicans whose "Salute to Eisenhower" dinners up to $100 a plate raised an estimated five million dollars for national, state and local GOP campaign purposes.

Responding to demands that he run again, Eisenhower said "my future role remains undetermined, whether to be a candidate for your nomination or a worker in the ranks." But he promised his help in either case.

"Heart Is So Full"

The President arose smiling and outwardly hale and hearty to return the salute of 53 dinners throughout the country. But tears

FOUNDATION FOR NEW STANDPIPE IS BEING BUILT

The foundation for Gettysburg's new 1,000,000 gallon standpipe atop E. Cemetery Hill has been completed and the bottom for the 30-foot high tank will be placed next week — weather permitting.

Robert Harner, manager of the Municipal Authority, said today the O. H. Hostetter Co., Hanover, has completed the concrete "ring," 78 feet across, which constitutes the foundation. Some work remains to be done in placing earth about the foundation and installing necessary pipes and valves before the huge steel bottom is placed. Then workmen will begin the riveting together of metal plates for the 30-foot tank. That work will be done by the Fisher Tank Co., Chester, Pa.

While work is progressing on the standpipe, workmen for the Municipal Authority have about two-thirds complete the installation of a water softener from Hungerford and Terry, Clayton, N. J., at the pumping station. The water softener will reduce the "hardness" of water from the deep well at the pumping station to about the same hardness as the water secured from Marsh Creek. As a result, the Municipal Authority will be able to use water from the well, if needed because of drought or for repairs at the pumping station, without having the "taste" of the water change because of the extreme "hardness" of the well water.

Cost of the new standpipe and water softener and related work will be about $150,000. The new standpipe will bring the water "reserve" of the town to 2,500,000 gallons, of which 1,000,000 gallons will be in the new standpipe, 1,000,000 gallons in the open reservoir and 500,000 gallons in the present standpipe. The reservoir water, it was pointed out, is used only in extreme emergency. The 2,500,000 gallons will supply the town, assuming that other water supplies were cut off, for about five days in wintertime and 2 1/2 days in summertime, according to normal use of the town which varies from 500,000 to 1,000,000 gallons a day.

It was explained that the money for this new construction was received from the last sale of bonds and that there will not be an increase in rates at this time.

They are Gus DeMoss, 48, a police radio dispatcher at Tulsa, and Robert W. Thomas, 46, a former Tulsa policeman.

Thomas also was identified as a former deputy sheriff of Dade County, (Miami) Fla. A federal grand jury, which charged them with transporting stolen money across state lines, also indicted Frank L. Ellsworth and Raymond R. Wilson on the same charge.

Ellsworth and Wilson are further charged with the slaying of Mrs. Lulu Rossman in her Philadelphia hotel room last July. Officials said DeMoss is known to be in Tulsa but the whereabouts of Thomas is unknown.

EXPECT COLD, WET WEEKEND

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. A raw January weekend, with cold and wet weather, was the outlook for most areas east of the Rockies.

Rain and snow fell over many areas of the country during the night and morning but generally falls were light in comparison to the heavy falls earlier this week.

The northern areas of the Midwest were the coldest sections a arctic air spread from the Northern Plains into the North Central region. It was below zero in the Dakotas, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. One of the lowest readings was -20 at Spencer, Iowa.

Temperatures remained below zero in many of the northern Midwest areas yesterday. The day's high at Alexandria, Minn., was -11.

Cold Wave Hits South. The South also got a touch of freezing weather again this morning as cold air seeped into northern parts of Texas, Alabama and Georgia and eastward into Virginia.

Generally mild weather continued in southern Florida but there was a chilling in the northwest area with readings near or below freezing. It was 31 degrees at Tallahassee. At the same time it was 64 at the Miami Airport.

Fairly mild winter weather prevailed in most of the Far West. Temperatures were in the 40s in Washington and Oregon and in the low 50s in California.

Rain and snow fell this morning from the West Coast across parts of the Rockies into the Plains and Great Lakes region. Snow flurries flecked areas from the Rockies eastward, with rain in Texas.

Highest temperature yesterday was 79 at West Palm Beach, Fla. Lowest was -28 at Bemidji, Minn.

DOOMED MAN ESCAPES JAIL

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Trails led in many directions today as the FBI and police of five states sought to trace Leslie Irvin, Indiana's cleverest escapee since desperado John Dillinger.

The 31-year-old Evansville pipe-fitter, under sentence to die June 12 for murder and indicted for five others, slipped out of Gibson County Jail at nearby Princeton Wednesday night. Left behind were a fearful climate, four unlocked doors and a cardboard key.

The most likely trail led westward. State police said Irvin mailed three letters early Thursday morning, before his escape had been discovered, at Mount Carmel, Ill.

A St. Louis hotel waitress, Mrs. Ruth Patton, who said she knew Irvin years ago, told police she saw the fugitive Thursday afternoon standing inside the door of a cafeteria at the Milner Hotel, St. Louis. Police were convinced she actually saw Irvin.

Mrs. Patton said she was so frightened she locked herself in her room and remained there all night. Then she read of Irvin's escape and notified police.

Irvin also was reported in St. Louis County, at Rolla, Mo.; near Springfield, Mo., and Plymouth Ind. and Vandalia, Ohio, Watseka, Ill., and Chicago.

HEMPSTED, Tex. (AP)—Hope was abandoned today for five men missing after a 180-foot center section of a new bridge plunged into the Brazos River seven miles south of here.

Four other men were injured, two seriously, when the estimated 150-ton mass of steel collapsed yesterday after one corner of a 60-foot concrete pier crumbled, causing temporary steel beams in the center section to fall. Three men escaped injury.

FORECAST SUN, COLD AND SNOW

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Cold and sunny weather with light snow in the central, north-east and western sections of Pennsylvania is the weekend weather outlook in the Commonwealth.

Freezing temperatures made the state's highways slippery and dangerous Friday night. Even main highways, though well cindered, were icy in spots.

Since the blanket of white fell on the state Thursday, at least four persons have died as an indirect result of the storm. Traffic accidents on icy and snow covered highways and streets were responsible for two deaths, while elderly people shoveling snow were the other victims.

Overnight temperatures Saturday included 19 at Allentown, Harrisburg 22, Selinsgrove 19, Phillipsburg 15, Altoona 21, Brookville 19, Pottsville 24, Blairsville 20, Erie 25, Scranton 16, Philadelphia 22. The temperatures in most sections are expected to rise to the low 30s today.

Driving conditions along the entire length of the Pennsylvania Turnpike were reported hazardous although the toll road has been cindered.

The latest accident resulting from the storm occurred on Route 19 at Portersville where Harold Mirkle, Union City, Erie County, suffered a possible broken neck in a car smashup. His auto ran off the slippery road and smashed into a utility pole.

CONEWAGO JT.

lin director, who served as a spokesman for the seven present Friday night said that "For eight years it appeared that each district of the jointure wanted to go separate ways, but in the last two weeks a great change has come about, the boards are now certain they want to make a go of the Conewago system."

A question of whether York County would release Paradise Twp. from its county plan to permit it to continue in the Adams system went unanswered Friday night. Charles W. Hash, Paradise Twp. school board secretary, who was present for the meeting with the county board, said his board had met with the York County board on the matter and that York County had made its decision known in a letter to him as secretary. However, he added, since he had not as yet imparted the information in the letter to the other members of his board he could make no statement Friday night.

30-Day Limit

The resolution adopted by the Conewago Joint System calling for restoration of that system to the county plan carries a 30-day limit which ends February 11. The directors present noted the 30-day limit was placed, they said, because of "moral commitments" by several of the boards. Hash explained "we put that 30-day limit in because we did not want it to drag on as it has."

The Conewago representatives were asked whether the Conewago jointure boards would vote again, February 11, to continue to seek re-establishment of the Conewago jointure as part of the county plan. The representatives said they had doubts that the boards would, and for that reason asked a quick response from the county board.

County board members pointed out that if they recommit the county plan to the state council the plan must cover all of the districts in the county or receive immediate rejection. "What will we do with North Adams if we restore Conewago Jointure, as it is?"

See Complications. Hildebrand admitted that was a county board problem but suggested that possibly various dispositions could be made, "or it could be continued as it is."

County board members after a long discussion held that it was impossible to reach a decision on the Conewago jointure proposal immediately but promised to reach a decision as quickly as it could.

Various members of the county board said that restoration of the Conewago jointure, as it is today, to the county plan would affect a great number of other districts. "And we can hardly go ahead without contacting the others that would be affected, and finding out what would be desirable and even what would be possible."

In addition to Hildebrand and Hash the delegation from Conewago jointure included Richard O. Riggs, East Berlin; Harry R. Mummert, Conewago Independent; Charles F. Spangler, East Berlin; Melvin J. Starnes, Reading Twp., and Joseph A. Stoner, Reading Twp.

HARRIMAN SAYS IKE IS "DODGER, BUCK PASSER"

By BILL BECKER
LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Buck passer" and "The biggest dodger" is the double-barreled salute to President Eisenhower fired by Averell Harriman.

Speaking like a man perhaps ready to make the switch from "inactive" to "active" presidential candidate, the Democratic governor of New York also emptied his verbal artillery at the Republican administration for what he termed its "lukewarm, reluctant or non-existent policies."

"Eisenhower is the biggest dodger of any president we've ever had in my memory," Harriman told newsmen. And he said his memory extended back to the McKinley administration.

Asked About Ridgway
The charge came when Harriman was asked his opinion of the President's remarks concerning Gen. Matthew Ridgway's published differences on 1951 military policy.

"Eisenhower is creating the impression he's over and above the administration," Harriman said, adding that the President "doesn't take responsibility for his programs."

By contrast, Harriman said, former President Truman "always took responsibility for his programs."

"Lightening Rod" Candidate
He accused Eisenhower of "passing the buck" when he referred reporters to the Pentagon concerning a statement in the 1954 State of the Union message. The President had claimed the Joint Chiefs of Staff had agreed on an Army manpower cut; Gen. Ridgway says he opposed it.

While Harriman demurred at being called either "active" or "inactive" at this stage, newsmen here were inclined to tab him a lightning rod candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"SEE IT THROUGH"

It's well to master the job at hand... before you try for more... see that your own back yard is safe... and then start to explore... don't have a dozen different things... on fire all at once... because you surely will get burned... and end up like a dunce... when people drift from this to that... they always catch the rain... only by sticking to a task... can we realize a gain... just set your course upon one road... though skies are overcast... and you will find as I have found... dark clouds can never last... and in the end I know you'll say... and your reward will be complete... because you saw it through.

RR PRESIDENTS ARE SHUFFLED

NEW YORK (AP)—Both the New Haven and the Boston & Maine Railroads have new presidents. Patrick B. McGinnis quit the New Haven to head the B. & M., while Boston corporation lawyer George Alpert was elected to succeed McGinnis.

McGinnis, following up his announcement of last Wednesday, yesterday resigned from the New Haven. About seven hours later he was elected president of the B. & M. The line came under control of McGinnis' allies last April after a proxy fight. The B. & M. had no president.

The New Haven directors elected the 58-year-old Alpert at a special meeting following acceptance of McGinnis' resignation.

McGinnis, 51, left the New Haven while it was under investigation by the four states it serves—Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York.

Commuter complaints have risen sharply the past few months over train delays and service disruptions.

Not A Killer, Just A Meter Reading Man

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP)—A certain meter reader is taking no chances on being mistaken for Leslie Irvin.

Henderson County was the scene of three vicious slayings traced to the "mad dog killer."

Aware of the uneasiness created by Irvin's escape from jail in Indiana, where he was sentenced to die for another killing, the unidentified route man for the municipal power plant made his rounds yesterday with this placard pinned on his back:

"Meter man. Don't shoot."

WEST NEW YORK, N. J. (AP)—A block of five stores was reduced to charred rubble early today in a half-million dollar blaze which raged out of control two hours.

Firemen from six communities responded to a general alarm and succeeded in containing the flames to the store block across from midtown New York City.

General Pickett, Defeated In Third Day's Battle Of Gettysburg, Has Two Shrines To His Memory In West

fice of his uncle until his appointment to West Point in 1842. Graduated in 1846, last in a class of 59, he went directly from school into the Mexican War. He was commissioned a second lieutenant in 1847 and served from the siege of Vera Cruz to the capture of Mexico City. For gallantry at Contreras and Churubusco he was brevetted first lieutenant in Aug. 1847. Pickett was the first to go over the parapets of Chapultepec and under menace of enemy fire he lowered the Aztec emblem and hoisted the flag of his infantry.

Served In Texas
From 1849 to 1856 he did garrison duty in Texas being raised to captain in 1855. Pickett married Sally Minge, of Richmond, in 1851, but his wife died before the year was over.

In 1856 he was assigned to frontier duty in the Washington territory and was engaged almost constantly in Indian fighting. In 1859 American settlers on Puget Sound complained of Indian outrages and threatened British aggression and Pickett was ordered to take possession of the island. This he did promptly with a force of 60 soldiers with which he defied three British warships anchored broadside to his camp. He also disregarded a message of a British magistrate aboard the flagship who had summoned him to trial.

When the British next proposed landing a force equal to Pickett's for joint military occupation, he replied: "I am here by virtue of an order from my government, and shall remain till recalled by the same authority." He further announced that he would fire on any landing party.

Resigned From Army
This dangerous mission had been accepted by Pickett with full knowledge that his orders were inspired by Democratic officials who hoped to weld together the disintegrating bonds of the Union by the threat of a foreign war. Finally joint occupation was approved and Pickett remained as commander of the American troops until 1861 when he resigned from the Federal forces. He went to Richmond, and was commissioned a colonel, and assigned to duty on the lower Rappahannock.

While Pickett's feats are always overshadowed by his valorous charge during the Battle of Gettysburg, he won distinction in every engagement in which he fought. In 1862 he was made a brigadier and his command, because of their intrepid courage at Williamsburg, Seven Pines, and Gaines Mill, earned the nickname "The Game Cock Brigade."

Wounded at Gaines Mill, Pickett was made a major-general and given command of a Virginia division. At Fredericksburg he held the center of Lee's line. He won fame also at Suffolk and then at Gettysburg.

Command Almost Annihilated
Here on July 3, 1863, with a strength of 4,500 muskets, his command marched into the withering fire of the Union line and was practically annihilated. Only one-fourth of his command survived the memorable charge.

After the Gettysburg campaign, he commanded the Department of Virginia and North Carolina. His advance from Petersburg in Feb. 1864 to free New Bern, N. C., failed but he secured 500 prisoners and valuable stores. Later his troops recaptured Plymouth, N. C., just as Pickett was ordered to Richmond. In the final Union offensives near Petersburg, his division bore the brunt of the attack at Five Forks, where he made the greatest fight of his career on April 1, 1865. He then joined Longstreet with the remnants of his command and remained with him until the surrender at Appomattox.

Refused Egyptian Job
On Sept. 15, 1863, he married the young and beautiful LaSalle Corbell, of Chuckatuck, Va. The couple had two children, one of whom lived to maturity.

Peace found Pickett in poverty and deprived him of his profession. The Khedive of Egypt offered him a commission as brigadier general, but he refused service which would separate him from his beloved wife. When Grant became president, he offered him the marshaling of Virginia, but he declined. Instead he accepted the Virginia agency of the Washington Life Insurance Company and was so employed until his death.

Pickett died at Norfolk, July 30, 1865, where his body was placed in a temporary vault. On Oct. 25, 1875, his remains were borne to Hollywood Cemetery, Richmond, where he was buried with full military honors.

evision flashbacks, from Los Angeles to New York, leave any thought that the Republicans saluting his third anniversary in the White House have in mind any other candidate but Eisenhower.

Some of them obviously were cheered by Eisenhower's statement that he hopes his decision when it comes, "will not unduly reflect concern for self..."

These party members said they interpreted this as indicating the President will make the race if he finds he has reached what he called at Thursday's White House news conference "a reasonable level of strength" physically.

"Challenge And Opportunity"
They bolstered this belief by citing the President's assertion that "many tasks still await action." Significantly, perhaps, the President said that "the present and future are heavy with challenge, rich with opportunity."

Saying that his future role remains undetermined, he said his answer on a possible second term left "will be forthcoming as quickly as it is firmly fixed in my mind."

Almost without exception the Republican speakers at dinners across the country stressed a "peace and prosperity" theme, to which they added pledges of efforts to raise the income of the farmers.

Ask Death Penalty For Narcotics Sales

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—The state legislature yesterday received a bill that would make the offense of selling narcotics to persons under 21 punishable by death in Kentucky.

The measure would change a law now providing a maximum sentence of life in the penitentiary. The bill proposes that the minimum sentence be 20 years confinement.

It was introduced by State Sen. Cecil C. Sanders (D-Lancaster).

as far as the Simon Codori house. A public meeting was held in the court house December 12, 1885, to arouse interest in the purchase by the borough of mechanical fire fighting equipment.

Delivered Jan. 26, 1886

At a special meeting of council January 13, 1886, upon recommendation of a committee comprising the late J. Emory Blair, Eph. H. Minnigh and Samuel Ridinger, council voted to buy a Silsby fire engine and two hand drawn hose reels. One thousand feet of hose, costing 80 cents a foot, also was bought. The late J. E. Wible was president of council at the time.

The Silsby, which was christened "Gen. George G. Meade" by council, was delivered here on January 26, 1886.

A public celebration in honor of the event was arranged. Two large over-lapping archways were erected in Lincoln square, the town band played, speeches were delivered and the new machine was put through its paces.

The late Samuel Herbst was the first driver for the Silsby and Charles H. Wilson was one of the first engineers, his duty being to get up steam to drive the pump.

At the same time a new fire company was organized here with Major Calvin Gilbert appointed by council as the first chief.

RIOTING ERUPTS ANEW IN BOMBAY AGAINST NEHRU

By B. S. V. RAO

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Rioting erupted anew in Bombay State today and threatened to spread to other parts of the country as protests mounted against Prime Minister Nehru's plan to redraw the map of India.

Angry demonstrators battled police and put the torch to big cotton warehouses in the scarred city of Bombay. Reports of fresh violence came from other parts of the state in the sixth straight day of disorder.

Word of disturbances also came from the States of West Bengal, Orissa and Bihar where demonstrators, apparently aroused by the Bombay riots, began staging their own protests against Nehru's reorganization plans.

Top Advisors Arrive
The Bombay crisis stemmed from the government's intent to split the state into three parts: The Marathi-speaking south, the Gujarati-speaking north and bilingual Bombay City under federal control.

Nehru's ruling Congress party faces a dilemma over Maratha demands for including of Bombay City in the Marathi-speaking state. About half the city's three million people are Marathas.

Some observers believe the party will lose its long-time stronghold of Bombay unless Nehru yields to the demands.

Nehru's top foreign policy adviser, V. K. Krishna Menon, arrived in Bombay en route to New Delhi from U.N. headquarters in New York.

Ostreicher, died in the Schwartz apartment last Aug. 24. She was 22.

Her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Silver, indicted on charges of conspiracy in the case, is expected to be a principal witness at the Schwartz trial. Mrs. Silver's trial has not been set.

TEN YEARS AGO

Dr. Stewart Is Re-Elected By History Group: Dr. Henry Stewart was re-elected president of the Adams County Historical Society for his second consecutive term Tuesday evening at the Court house.

Mrs. E. S. Lewars was re-elected vice president and Mrs. C. E. Bilheimer was elected recording secretary until the return of J. Melchior Sheds, who served the society in that office until several years ago. Mrs. H. E. Berkey was re-elected corresponding secretary; Mrs. Victor Dutera, librarian and Harry T. Stauffer, treasurer.

Church Holds Congregation Meet Tuesday: Spiritually and financially the Trinity Evangelical Reformed church has a successful year according to reports presented Tuesday evening at the annual congregational meeting.

During the year 21 new members were received, 104 regular services were held and attendance at the Holy Communion and morning church services was "splendid," the Rev. Howard S. Fox, pastor, reported.

On the financial side the church ended the year with a balance of $2,460.51 and had $3,234.95 in the building fund.

Town Seeks Funds To Fight By-Pass Roads: Want No. 30 Improved: Gettysburg business men and all who profit by the battlefield tourist business will be asked, within a few days, to determine whether they desire to keep Gettysburg on Pennsylvania's "Main street" or see this "Main street" go 30 miles to the north.

They will be asked to contribute to a fund to fight extension of the Pennsylvania turnpike until the Lincoln highway, life-blood artery of Gettysburg, is completely modernized and improved. Contributions will be sought on the basis of how much the tourist business means to each one individually and to Gettysburg itself.

Fruit Yield In County Was Off 67 PC. Last Year: Adams countians who have to pay 57 per cent more for fruit this year do so chiefly because of the shortness of the crop last fall, according to the Federal-State Crop reporting service. The county's fruit production dropped 67 per cent according to the estimates.

Last spring freezes and unfavorable pollution weather largely accounted for the short crops, while excessive rainfall late in the growing season caused many apples to crack badly. While the county's production was off, its production exceeded many other sections. Cumberland county, lying next door to Adams, suffered even heavier damage to its fruit crop.

Vernon B. Corle Is Transferred: Vernon B. Corle, manager of the Gettysburg Water company for almost five years, has accepted in position as manager of the Westmoreland County Water System, Greensburg.

Commissioners Raise Tax Rate 2 Mills To Pay For New Prison: The county tax rate for 1946, fixed by the Adams county commissioners at their meeting at the court house Wednesday, will be six and a half mills per dollar of assessed valuation, which is two mills higher than the 1945 rate.

The increase was fixed by the commissioners to provide an approximate $34,000 for the erection of a new county jail, to be added to the existing jail construction fund of $79,000.

Federation Of Sportsmen Is Being Launched: Formation of a Federation of Sportsmen's clubs of Adams County was effected Thursday night in Littlestown with Bernard Dillman, Littlestown, named as first president of the new organization.

Attempts will be made by the new group to enroll the sportsmen's organizations in McSherrystown, East Berlin, Hunterstown and Gettysburg into the federation at a session to be held January 30.

Today's Talk

BOOKS AT NAP

I hope I may be forgiven for my endless reference to books and my library. It's the library of an average man but one that has love lavishly printed on every shelf. Though I give many volumes and collections to worthy purposes I am always saddened at any departure. Like parting with a beloved dog, I want to be sure that each book will have a "good home."

Over so brief a life as we all have to our credit, we can read only so many books but even at that a lover of books never stops welcoming others. Hundreds of these books are often relegated to their long naps — asleep, awaiting, like the small boy, the call to school.

Hardly a day passes, however, without stirring the long nap of many a volume, reaching for it, and blessing its thoughts, as I, too, put this mind and body away for the night. I have dozens of books I like to make my last companions before bed time. Naturally they are of the inspirational type. Few books are so comforting as the New Testament. But what an experience it is to take from one's shelf a book, long ago purchased, and note the markings in it and welcoming it again, as I once did!

Just to touch a beloved book is something to announce kinship. My interest in rare first editions got hold of me rather late in life, but I believe that has increased the worth and personality of such items. Take an item like the first edition of "A Little Boy Lost" by W. H. Hudson with the author's inscription in it on the fly leaf: "To a small boy of eight, if you know such a one," and then signed by W. H. Hudson. A book embellished with love has no other competition!

How many a time I have taken a book from my shelves, after a long nap of its own, and then joined with it, only to be awakened by a kindly hand with the statement: "It's time for your sleep!" There is no tonic or sleeping pill so effective and delightful as a great book read before bedtime.

Just Folks

PURPOSE

Boys are often reckless when they start to run.

Boys are full of mischief; boys are fond of fun.

Boys at times are noisy. That we all agree.

But tomorrow's craftsmen shortly they will be.

See that healthy racial playing second base?

Some old priest or parson maybe he'll repulse.

That grinning, impish youngster eating chocolate fudge

May become a lawyer and later on a judge.

Look beyond a little. When their games are played

Out of small boys only men to serve are made.

Somewhere now among them, could we clearly see,

There are skillful doctors; merchants soon to be.

All they need is guidance and a little aid,

Friendly men to help them when they seem afraid,

Men who understand them and are glad to show

They themselves were youngsters not so long ago.

NEW HOSPITAL

DEAL IS URGED

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) says it isn't fair that Pennsylvania should spend all its federal hospital funds on mental institutions.

He made public Thursday a letter he had written to state Secretary of Welfare Harry Shapiro saying that he had received "many complaints from individual citizens and from officials of community hospitals." He said the complaints were prompted by a Welfare Department decision to apply all Hill-Burton funds to mental hospitals. The Hill-Burton law provides funds to help expand hospital facilities.

Martin said he realizes that "in spite of the millions of dollars spent during the past 16 years our mental institutions are still overcrowded," but also added:

"It is also a fact that there is great need, and in some communities there exists an emergency, for additional hospital beds to take care of the normal sick and ailing, for those who can be rehabilitated and returned to their normal and useful occupations."

fire department will hold a fair in the fire hall February 7, 8 and 9 to raise money to pay for a new fire truck, recently ordered, delivery on which is expected this summer.

AGREE CONGRESS

SHOULD PROVIDE FOR DISABILITY OF PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Several senators agreed with President Eisenhower today that Congress should look into the question of who is to decide whether a president is unable to perform his duties.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said the Constitution and the laws contain a gap which "might sometime rise up on cause confusion and uncertainty," and he added:

"The best time to act is when we do not have that kind of situation before us, and I favor Congress working out some kind of satisfactory solution."

Needs Careful Study

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said in a separate interview he considers it "desirable to see if we can't find a satisfactory solution," and Sen. Eastland (D-Miss) agreed "it's a question that ought to be studied."

At his news conference Thursday, Eisenhower was asked if he had given any thought to the Constitution's silence on the question of who should declare a president unable to perform his duties.

He said the subject should be carefully studied by Congress and the attorney general, adding it would be good for the country to work out the matter so that doubts would be resolved.

No Hearings Held

Legislation to this end has been introduced in the Senate and the House, but no hearings have been held.

Sen. Payne (R-Maine) has offered a bill under which a president if he felt physically unable to discharge his duties properly, would notify Congress.

The vice president then would assume the presidency's powers and duties — but not the title — until the President notified Congress he was able to assume them again.

Panel Of Doctors

If a president were unconscious or paralyzed and therefore unable to notify Congress of his disability, Payne's bill provides that the vice president shall advise the chief justice.

Then the chief justice would be required to appoint a panel of three to five doctors, each of whom would examine the President and submit a report. If they all concluded the President was unable to perform his duties, the chief justice would notify Congress and the vice president would take over.

In the House Rep. Frelinghuysen (R-NJ) has proposed a constitutional amendment setting up procedures for the vice president to take over the President's duties.

MOTHER OF BABY

GIRL VANISHES FROM HOSPITAL

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Police pressed a search Friday for an attractive well-dressed brunette who slipped away from St. Michael's hospital two days after giving birth to a girl.

The woman entered the hospital in labor Tuesday night and identified herself as Mrs. Margaret Miller, 30, giving a street address in West Liberty, Pa., but police said the address was fictitious.

She gave birth to the 8 pound 2 ounce girl four hours after arriving at the hospital. And Thursday she walked out a basement door in her maternity clothes, took a cab to Broad street and Third avenue and vanished.

Wore Expensive Clothes

Hospital authorities said the mother wore expensive clothing, had a two-carat diamond ring, an expensive wedding band and a gold wristwatch. She told them she had two other children.

When admitted, the woman said she had attended a New York wedding and was awaiting at Newark airport for a plane to Pittsburgh when labor pains started. She asked a cab to take her to a Catholic hospital and she drove her to St. Michael's.

According to detectives, the mystery woman left her third floor room in the maternity wing at 10 a.m. Thursday, apparently walked downstairs to the basement clinic and out the door.

Had $400 In Cash

The cab driver she hailed when she left was located later. He told police the woman paid her fare at Broad and Third and walked off.

The woman had $400 with her when she disappeared, according to Sister Mary Brendan at St. Michael's. She had shown the money to a roommate before leaving. The sister said the hospital usually allows patients to take only $5 to their rooms and requires that other valuable be left in the hospital safe. But the woman got special permission to keep her rings, sister Mary added.

Police also were unable to locate a Howard Miller accountant, whom the woman had listed as her husband.

School Looters To Face Grand Jury

IRVINGTON, N. J. (AP)—Two men accused of looting equipment from schools in three states were ordered held for the grand jury Thursday.

The men, Robert Hoffman, 30, and Alonzo Jackson, 38, appeared before Magistrate Benjamin C. Gurnik.

Police arrested Jackson Jan. 10 and said he admitted breaking into more than 20 schools in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York, implicating Hoffman in some of the entries.

Cameras and recording equipment allegedly stolen from the school buildings was found in Jackson's home, police said.

Pennsy Inaugurates New Freight Holder

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad and the Rail Trailer Co. have begun use in the East of a wheelless piggy-back freight holder known as the Mobilvan that rides both on rail and highway carriers.

The Mobilvan, an aluminum unit 21½ feet long by 8 feet wide and high, was developed by the Clark Equipment Co. of Battle Creek, Mich. It is lifted onto trailer trucks and freight cars by fork lift trucks and is equipped for attachment to either.

The Mobilvan eliminates the expense of shipping empty trucks on rail and provides for storage without idling motor of rail transportation.

The railroad said Thursday the new units have been put into use between Chicago and Kearney, N. J.

HEWITT SALES TAX WOULD ALL GO TO SCHOOLS

By DICK HOENIG

HARRISBURG (AP)—The three per cent Hewitt retail sales tax bill, due to be voted upon by the House next week, would earmark all proceeds for "public school purposes."

One section of the proposal specifies that tax money collected, as well as penalties and interests, be applied to the state's educational costs "in so far as permitted by the state Constitution."

The proposal was introduced in the House March 29, one day after Gov. Leader delivered his budget message, by Rep. Hewitt (R-Indiana) without Republican organization support.

Sponsored 1953 Tax

Hewitt was sponsor of the one per cent retail sales tax enacted in 1953—Pennsylvania's first real sales tax in recent history.

Tuesday the Democratic-controlled Ways and Means Committee, with Republican members opposing the action, amended the Hewitt bill from its original two per cent rate, and sent it to the floor for a vote.

Republican House Leader Smith disavowed the bill because of the Democratic increase in rate. He said the GOP would not vote for it.

Like 1953 Proposal

When he submitted the present measure Hewitt said it was "very much like my original proposal in 1953."

"There are no exemptions on clothes and other things like were added to the bill that became law in 1953. I think this is the only fair way to solve the state's financial problems," Hewitt added.

Called a consumer sales tax it would be applied to sales at retail under which ownership of tangible personal property is transferred for a consideration. All sales of 10 cents and under would be exempt.

Note Tax Exemptions

Although the bill carries only one broad exemption—food for human consumption—it does define seven other classes of sales outside the taxable range.

They are: Isolated sales not made in the ordinary course of business, other than auto sales; sales of liquor, beer, cigarettes, gasoline and other motor fuels; utility services; sales to the state, federal government and other political subdivisions; performance of personal service; sales of property intended for use in church for religious purposes and sales of water.

Items that would be taxable under the original draft of the measure include candy, clothing, soda, machinery and all components of manufactured products.

The coal industry group said in its new petition yesterday that the proposed increase would "mucit 75 million dollars a year from the industry" and that a delay of 100 days was not asking too much. In asking for separate treatment, the association emphasized that the coal industry would find the increase "far more burdensome" than would any other kind of traffic.

A panel of three members of the 11-member ICC has turned down the request on the ground it would unduly delay the freight rate hearing.

Police said it appeared possible the gang which organized the coup — one of the biggest robberies in Swiss criminal history — had succeeded in getting the bars into France.

The shipment arrived from Paris by air Thursday. The bars were loaded on the truck of a Geneva transport firm. The driver, M. Salamin, drove to the transport firm's headquarters near Geneva's main station to unload some of his other consignments, leaving the truck and the gold unguarded, quite normal in Switzerland, where large-scale thefts are extremely rare.

The thieves were apparently fully aware of the driver's habits, because they drove the truck away without a witness noticing it leave.

The truck was found two hours later on the outskirts of Geneva, less than a mile from the French border. Tire marks and footprints showed the gold had been transferred to a waiting car by several men.

STATE BAR TO HONOR JUSTICE HORACE STERN

HARRISBURG (AP)—State Supreme Court Chief Justice Horace Stern has been selected by the Pennsylvania Bar Assn. to receive its first annual distinguished service award.

The selection was made by the association's executive committee at the opening of its mid-winter meeting here Thursday night.

The Philadelphia justice's nomination for the award paves the way for actual presentation of a medal at the bar association's annual meeting at Spring Lake, N. J., in June.

Retiring This Year

Executive Committee Chairman Harry L. Siegel, Lewistown, said Stern was selected for his "service and accomplishments in the fields of jurisprudence and in the improvement of the administration of justice" within the last few years.

The 77-year-old jurist, named chief justice of the Supreme Court in 1952, has announced his retirement effective later this year.

The association's mid-winter meeting swung into full gear Friday with Pennsylvania's tax problem one of the major topics of discussion.

Edward Friedman, a deputy attorney general in the state Justice Department, was to address the group on "Pennsylvania Taxes and the Uniformity Clause."

Asks ICC For Own Hearing On Coal Rate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Coal Association again has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant a separate hearing for coal on the reasonableness of a general seven per cent rail freight rate increase set for Feb. 25.

A panel of three members of the 11-member ICC has turned down the request on the ground it would unduly delay the freight rate hearing.

The coal industry group said in its new petition yesterday that the proposed increase would "mucit 75 million dollars a year from the industry" and that a delay of 100 days was not asking too much. In asking for separate treatment, the association emphasized that the coal industry would find the increase "far more burdensome" than would any other kind of traffic.

Police said it appeared possible the gang which organized the coup — one of the biggest robberies in Swiss criminal history — had succeeded in getting the bars into France.

The shipment arrived from Paris by air Thursday. The bars were loaded on the truck of a Geneva transport firm. The driver, M. Salamin, drove to the transport firm's headquarters near Geneva's main station to unload some of his other consignments, leaving the truck and the gold unguarded, quite normal in Switzerland, where large-scale thefts are extremely rare.

The thieves were apparently fully aware of the driver's habits, because they drove the truck away without a witness noticing it leave.

The truck was found two hours later on the outskirts of Geneva, less than a mile from the French border. Tire marks and footprints showed the gold had been transferred to a waiting car by several men.

Iron-Man GHS Cage Team Hands Hanover Surprise 47-40 For First SP Win

An inspired, scrappy Gettysburg High School iron-man basketball squad staged off a rally in the final minutes of play to upset the highly favored Hanover Nighthawks here Friday evening 47-40. Coach George Forney stuck to his starting five all the way and his tactics paid dividends.

After taking the lead midway in the second quarter the Warriors led by a comfortable margin the remainder of the way until the Hawks put on their scoring flurry which pared the lead to 43-40 with a minute to go. Rolf Johnson, scoring hero with 22 points, tallied twice in the closing moments to ice the game.

The triumph ended a long victory drought in South Penn League competition for the Warriors. Their last previous victory was a 50-47 win over Mechanicsburg here on February 16, 1954. Since that time the Warriors had lost 22 straight circuit games. Gettysburg is now 5-3 for the season.

Show Five Form
Coach Forney's lads exhibited some of the form they showed in early season. They turned in a fine game beneath the boards with Glenn Weishaar being particularly effective in that department.

The score was tied six times before Gettysburg gained the lead at 16-14 midway in the second stanza and the locals were never headed thereafter.

Tight defensive work, plus sub-par shooting by both teams, resulted in an 8-3 stalemate at the end of the first quarter. Carl Klinedinst tallied for Hanover after half a minute, Bobby Hess' long chuck knotting the count. Klinedinst and Johnson traded goals before Larry Little landed a pair for the visitors. Late in the quarter Johnson and Earl Little connected for the Warriors to tie the count.

Pile Up Lead
Gettysburg went ahead at 12-10 after 1:30 minutes of the second quarter but Bill Howe knotted the count with a pair of fouls at 14-14. Johnson's two charity tosses put the Warriors on top for keeps. Merle Gorman, Little and Johnson landed goals with Little adding a foul and Weishaar a pair as Gettysburg built up a 29-18 margin at half time.

After Hanover tallied five points to open the third period, the Warriors called time and promptly came back with two goals by Johnson and one by Little to make it 35-23. At the end of the frame the Forney-men led 39-26.

Visitors Spurt
At the four-minute mark of the last quarter the Warriors were on top but then the Hawks threw a scare into the local camp with nine straight points to cut the lead to 42-38. About a minute remained when Hess tabbed a foul for Gettysburg. Klinedinst looped a pair of free tosses but then Johnson got free for a layup and just before the game ended added another for a clincher.

Backing up Johnson's 22-point effort was Little with 12 and Gorman with nine while Hess and Weishaar came through with vital points and key plays. Top man for the visitors as Klinedinst with 15. Bob Forney, who set a league scoring mark last year, failed to score although the youngster has been hampered all season by a leg injury.

Scraps Defected
Hanover's Jayvees salvaged part of the evening program by outclassing the Warriors reserves in the preliminary 42-22. After taking a 10-0 lead in the opening frame the visitors held a commanding lead the rest of the way. Sidney Steinour rimmed 11 points for the locals with

SOUGHAK HOLDS CALIENTE LEAD

TJUANA, Mex. (AP)—The Caliente Open golf tournament swung into the third round today and "Iron Mike" Soughak still had a tight grasp on the situation.

The young man with the shoulders of a wrestler was three strokes in front of the field with rounds of 65-71 behind him for a 36-hole score of 136.

His nearest threats at the moment were Tommy Boj and California's Ralph Blomquist. Tempestuous Tommy with a 70 and the Glendale Club pro with a 72 yesterday.

Rain which drenched the 7,000-yard, par 36-72 Tjuana Country Club course was expected to continue today but possibly clear up in the afternoon.

Tied at 140 and still a threat were two other seasoned tournament players, Oklahoma's Bo Winger, with 69-71, and Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., 71-69.

Safely in the fold but well off the pace were such name players as Doug Ford, with a 73 for 144, Dutch Harrison, 71 for 145, Jay Hebert, 74 for 146 and Brother Lionel Hebert, 75 for 147.

Boiling Springs' devastating attack completely routed the York Springs High dribblers Friday evening as the league-leading Bubblers triumphed 72-8 on the winners' floor.
Fourteen players broke into the lineup for Boiling Springs and all scored one or more points. It was no contest as Bud Ecker's charges limited the Springers to but three field goals, Jimmy Cashman landing two. The win was the sixth straight for the Bubblers in league competition and was the sixth straight loss for York Springs.

East Berlin kept on the heels of the league-leaders by jolting the invading New Oxford outfit 66-50. The Indians jumped off to a 13-8 lead in the opening round and led by a comfortable margin the rest of the way.
Nelson Groupe and Leverage Krall topped the Indians with 19 and 13 points, respectively, while Don Wiseman and Dick Sipe rimmed 13 and 12 for the Colonials.

Biglerville pulled its league record to 3-3 by crushing Newville at Biglerville 59-42.
Dick Allison's squad roared off to an 18-7 lead in the first quarter and the outcome was sealed. Don Bowers went on a scoring spree for the Cannons with 25 points on 10 goals and five free tosses. Neidig hooped eight points for the losers.

Littlestown remained in a tie with East Berlin for second place by outclassing Fairfield on the Littlestown floor 75-57.

Oil Affects Carbon Deposits In High Compression Engines; Boost Battery After Starting

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
The best some drivers can give you is a gruff idea as to why they bumped into you.

With engine compression steadily heading for the 10 to 1 ratio the subject of carbon is right up there again as one of the chief sources of worry for the car owner. Because gasoline has been running up to new records in high octane rating many owners of older cars have come to think of carbon as a thing of the past, but if the newer engines are to deliver anything approximating their full efficiency there must be a concerted effort to keep carbon to a minimum. There are some handy and most effective rules worth noting, and one that is important concerns selecting the right grade of oil for the engine. A too heavy oil can form carbon rapidly, as will an oil that is thinned out from dilution.

Since there is more idling today, because of long delays in congested traffic, oil tends to become more diluted and should thus be changed more often. Make sure the choke isn't ailing, because a too rich mixture will add to your worries. So will too high oil pressure. A point that few consider is to avoid using the car if its engine doesn't run smoothly. There's a missing plug or a sticky valve, and either one will invite carbon.

Toboggan For Mileage
Take a tip from the experts and don't drive fast on a cold day unless the road is a super-highway and the radiator core is partially blocked off with cardboard to cut the air stream over the motor. Engineers have found that because of the refrigeration action of carburetor gas passing through the cold venturi at high velocity ice builds up to cut down the proportion of air. This is exactly like partially closing the choke valve, and results in reducing gas mileage.

A little more humor in service instructions probably would make the repair shop day a bit easier and certainly would make an impression on busy car owners who too often read advice but fail to act on it because they forget what they have read. I remember a clever booklet put out by one of the spark plug companies some years back in which it was suggested that if your car's engine is missing maybe it's because the manufacturer forgot to put one in the car. Another line hinted that perhaps someone stole the motor while the owner wasn't looking, while a third possibility was that a neighbor borrowed the engine to run his power mower. I hadn't any trouble at all linking this joshing with the simple fact that engine missing usually is due to a spark plug or two being dirty or having badly worn pistons.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"The best time to give the engine of your car a ten minute period of fast idling is after starting up in the morning. If you want to give the battery an occasional boost these cold days. At this time the generator will show a higher charging rate than when it has warmed up. Meanwhile the engine will have the benefit of a fast idle warm-up which will prevent stalling from icing and other annoyances which develop during the first few miles of cold operation."

Few of us realize it but when we are talking about the stopping distance needed to bring our cars to a halt we really are speaking of three different parts of the process. First of all we take time to get around to deciding that something ought to be done. That is, we have to go through the process of becoming conscious of a need for stopping what we are doing and starting to do something else. Next there is the actual time for our decision to be translated into physical movement of our braking foot. This is popularly known as "reaction time." And, finally, there is the time required for the brakes to do their stuff.

Too much time for the first two steps too often leads to trouble. Did You Know That—The main reason for revival of the sort of button control of the transmission we had years ago is in anticipation of the time when the gearbox will be way back at the rear axle?

Cars had better rear-wheel traction during sharp acceleration in the days when the final drive was by means of a chain to each rear wheel?

That in spite of all the talk about safety a broken rear axle with current design means that a rear wheel is likely to come off?

Keeping the top of the battery clean is one of the special needs where the electrical system is 12 volts because there is twice as much leakage of current if there is discharge across the battery top due to dampness or to electrolyte having been spilled on it. Motorists do not realize that the 12-volt battery has about half the ampere hour rating of a 6-volt battery and for that reason doubling the ampere leakage (due to the fact that the 12-volt battery has double the voltage) results in four times the amount of discharge.

Most of the leakage across the top of a battery is due to overfilling the cells, a cracked battery case or overcharging.

Back To Original Ride
While it's important to keep the engine in prime condition, and the brakes and steering system right up to par, too many motorists seem to overlook the car's riding qualities which tend to deteriorate slowly but steadily from the time the car takes to the road. Millions of cars need to have their shock absorbers replaced or serviced, but these so-called shocks merely control spring action. Coil springs should be replaced if they sag, but meanwhile some improvement can be had by inserting stabilizing rubber blocks. Leaf springs can be re-arched and re-set, and are often as good as new. However, care must be taken to use the same sort of interliners as were used at the factory, or lubrication inserts. In time, shackles may also need replacing, especially if the owner has made the mistake of squirting lubricating oil over them. Modern shackles have rubber bushings which require special lubricant for rubber only. Brake fluid is all right for this job. But no lube should be used unless there is a squeak and only just enough to check the noise.

Anti-sway bars and stabilizers will also bear watching. They, too, have rubber bushings. Finally there are the tires which may lose their flexibility with age. It is not unusual to need rebuilding of the front seat cushion. It sags badly on the driver's side.

In The Motor Mail
Q. The anti-sway bar at the front of my car has broken. I have bent the broken ends sufficiently far apart so that there is no more rattling on a rough road. Is it necessary to replace this bar? J. L. M.

A. Cars ran quite well before anyone thought of a sway bar, but I would advise replacing it to check tire squeal as the car sways on curves. On your car there also is a sway bar at the rear.

Q. For some reason I have been unable to get a ping out of the engine of my car. If I advance the timing too far then there is a tendency for the engine to backfire in cranking, and I note considerable roughness at lower speeds in high gear. Carbon was removed from the engine about a year ago. C. M. R.

A. Gasoline has gone up so in octane rating it is difficult getting a ping from an old engine of low compression unless it is running hot or is loaded with carbon. I presume you wanted a little ping to satisfy yourself that the timing is right on the button.

Q. The rear end of my car seems to bottom on rough roads especially if there are rear-seat passengers. All four springs of my car are the coil type. Can anything be done about this? H. McN.

A. You can have hard rubber stabilizers installed between the coils of the rear springs to help compensate for their sag.

Q. Valve tappets in the engine of my overhead valve engine are quite noisy in spite of repeated attempts to silence them with careful adjusting. They are not hydraulic. K. L. Y.

A. Check the oil lead to the valve compartment atop the motor. If this line is clogged oil will not reach the valve gear in sufficient quantity.

Q. Lately I have had difficulty shifting down from third to second. A friend showed me how to get a smooth shift by double clutching, but previous to this trouble I was always able to shift down without any special tricks. Wm. L. H.

A. The difficulty here is with the synchronizer for the second speed gear which will need replacing. In a synchro-mesh transmission it is not necessary to double clutch.

Q. I have been told that if I greatly speeds up the job of waxing a car to sprinkle talcum powder either on the surface being waxed. Is there any sense in this, and if so just how do I go about using the idea? W. W. R.

A. Your informant means car-starch, not talcum powder. However, this should be used only if you are using paste wax and the air happens to become damp and humid. It will speed the work under such unfavorable conditions, but it does not give a better job under normal conditions. There is,

EGYPT PREMIER ADMITS 150 RED GUN EXPERTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser is said to have admitted into Egypt possibly 150 Soviet bloc technicians to help assemble arms from Czechoslovakia.

Diplomatic sources who reported this Friday said the number is five times the 30 experts Nasser originally estimated would be necessary to help get into operating condition the guns, tanks, jet planes and other arms. The increase is a source of concern to U. S. officials anxious to hold the growth of Soviet influence in the Middle East to a minimum.

Egypt Made Deal

Egypt made a deal with Red Czechoslovakia last fall for 80 million dollars worth of military equipment, much of it now delivered. This increased tension in the Middle East because of its impact on the military balance between Israel and the Arab states.

American officials told Nasser at the time the Soviets could be expected to try to infiltrate Egypt with spies and political agitators in the guise of technicians.

The understanding here is that Nasser thus far has managed to avoid any political activity by the Red technicians.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Service Commission, under prodding by a House committee, has told its employees they have a responsibility "to assist in the task of keeping the public informed." The new directive, disclosed Friday, takes the place of one which advised employees that information about commission affairs is "the property of the government" and must be disclosed without authorization.
